

CONTRACT OF LICENSE AND GUARANTEE

This contract shall grant the right of usage of the lost-stop label and similar materials produced by Aristo Patent Limited Company and findthefinder.com software.

The copyrights of findthefinder.com software and any related document shall be held by Aristo Patent Limited Company and protected by the contracts of international intellectual and artistic works.

Aristo Patent Limited Company will enable free usage of the refreshes and updates to be done in findthefinder.com to its users as of the effective date of this contract of license.

The users are free to use or not to use findthefinder.com software by purchasing lost-stop product including a different features according to the general return terms. Aristo Patent Limited Company can not be considered responsible for the financial and moral responsibilities arising from this freedom.

Aristo Patent Limited Company will show a maximum effort to make the users use findthifinder.com software which is related to the lost-stop licensed product throughout the expected life of this product.

The users shall accept and undertake that Aristo Patent Limited Company can not be considered responsible for the relationships established or is to be established between the users and with third persons after finding the lost property and any kind of financial and emotional damages arising or is to arise from these relationships.

None of the information accumululated at lost-stop/findthefinder.com software and hardware shall enable your identity to be recognised individually. Aristo Patent Limited Company will show a maximum effort with respect to the fact that no information will be shared with any person, institution or organisation except for the court decisions duly made by the countries on the subject of whether there is a case requiring this or not.

Aristo Patent Limited Company can not be considered responsible for the fact that the product and its correlations are damaged or disappear due to the user error, system failure, virus effect etc.

Aristo Patent Limited Company can not be considered responsible for the financial and legal results arising from misuse or illegal usage of the lost-stop licensed product and related contents and findthefinder.com programme.

By no means the financial responsibility to be demanded from Aristo Patent Limited Company can not exceed the amount paid when purchasing the product.